Abstract

SOETOMO HOSPITAL has long been stated as an A class, top referral, teaching hospital, associated to the Airlangga University School of Medicine (AUSM). To maintain the status, great effort should be pursued. The aim of the health development is to increase the degree of community health to an optimal level, to improve the human resource and the community quality of life as a whole. To reach the goals, a certain quantity and quality of human resource is needed. Education in this context is most important.
